

By Kali Schumitz

<http://www.fairfaxtimes.com/cms/story.php?id=2406>

In 2008, the academy's religious textbooks came under public scrutiny after the United States Commission on International Religious Freedom issued a report that indicated the textbooks promoted religious intolerance and supported violence. School officials later said they revised the religious curriculum in consultation with professors at two American universities.